

VICTOR FALECK, ESQ. BIO

Victor Faleck received a B.S. (valedictorian) and B.A. degree from Yeshiva University in 1976, and a J.D. (cum laude) from the Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law in 1979. He has served in the appellate courts of New York State for 40 years and is currently Deputy Chief Court Attorney at the Appellate Term of the Supreme Court, Second Judicial Department. He co-authored the 2009-2010 and the 2010-2011 editions of New York Residential Landlord-Tenant Law and Procedure and has been lecturing on landlord-tenant law to the Housing Court Judges' Association since 1995 and at the New York State Judicial Institute since 2003.